

Lake Mead Fish Hatchery

This project is a first-class showcase of how to raise cold water trout in the Mojave Desert. The hatchery staff also studies and propagates endangered species which are native to the Colorado River. The visitors' center features aquariums, interpretive walks and displays, an overlook to view the hatchery's work, and an auditorium for school groups visiting the facility.

A place of refuge from the southwestern sun, here a visitor can safely see the hatching of fish and the interesting background stories.
